AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 13, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Commerce.com, Inc. (Nasdaq: CMRC) ("Commerce"), a provider of an open, intelligent commerce ecosystem that enables businesses to unlock data potential and deliver seamless, personalized experiences at scale, today announced that it will report financial results for the three months ended December 31, 2025 and the full year ended December 31, 2025 before market open on Thursday, February 12th, 2026. Commerce will host a conference call and webcast to discuss its results the same day.

As disclosed in the Company's January 7, 2026 Form 8-K, Commerce continues to make progress improving the efficiency and financial profile of the business while maintaining growth across the platform. In connection with this update, the Company reaffirmed its previously issued financial outlook for the three months ended December 31, 2025 and the full year ended December 31, 2025 for both revenue and non-GAAP operating income. The operational and organizational changes recently implemented are expected to deliver meaningful improvement in non-gaap profitability and operating cash flow, supported by ongoing revenue growth. The workforce realignment announced is primarily focused on simplifying operating complexity and management layers, with efficiencies driven by expanded use of artificial intelligence and automation across the organization. The Company expects these actions to deliver benefits over time, with the majority reflected in fiscal year 2026 and the full annualized impact anticipated in fiscal year 2027. The Company also announced the appointment of Chief Financial Officer Daniel Lentz to the expanded role of Chief Operating Officer in order to further strengthen operational execution and alignment. Management will provide additional detail on these initiatives during the February 12, 2026 earnings call.

The financial results and business highlights will be discussed on a conference call and webcast scheduled at 7:00 a.m. CT (8:00 a.m. ET) on Thursday, February 12, 2026.
